Harriman's Expression of Opinion Regarding Better Times Helps Situation.

NEW YORK, August 4.—Whatever misgivings were felt yesterday over the speculative situation were laid aside/to-day, and operations for higher prices of stocks were resumed with a volume and aggressiveness that argue the pos-of stocks were resumed with a volume and aggressiveness that argue the possession of the largest resources and a feeling of unbounded confidence. Commission houses admit but a moderate although a growing increase in the outside participation in the market.

The lagging or receding tendency of portions of the list was viewed with indifference and did not materially obstruct the industrious operations to accumulate stocks which were going on at other points in the market. The greater breadth and irregularity is taken usually to indicate a decline in the professionalism of the operations. The grain markets were somewhat less excited to-day. News regarding the crops themselves continued to show unfavorable weather conditions in the corn and spring wheat belts.

The weekly bulletin of the weather bureau gave official confirmation to the existence of these conditions up to last night, and the official weather map this morning showed no material subsidence of the drouth and heat in the districts where they are most feared. The wires brought further reports also from private experts alleging heavy damage to the yield. These reports,

The wires brought further reports also from private experts alleging heavy damage to the yield. These reports, which intimidated the speculators on yesterday, were ignored to-day. Destructive forest fires were reported to be sweeping uninterrupted over a region of British Columbia, and employes on the Canadian Pacific were ordered out on sirike. These are not important developments in themselves, but the effect they produced yesterday, compared with the indifference towards them today, marks an important contrast in

GEORGIA RATE CASE

Judge Speer's Action Awaited With Great Interest.

WASHINGTON, August 4.—A legal technicality has arisen in connection with the proposed inquiry by the Interestate Commerce Commission into the reasonableness of railroad freight rates in Georgia, Judge Emory Speer, of the Southern district of that State, having enjoined several roads against the effectment of increased rates announced to take effect on August 1st. All the railroads concerned have informed the commission that they will obey the injunction of the court, so that when the case comes up for hearing, if Judge Speer takes no further action, the stippers of Georgia will have no case of increased rates to complain of, but will only be enabled to allege that the roads proposed to increase the rates, and were prevented from doing so by the court. On the other hand, it is asserted that, so far as the commission is concerned, the tariff on the roads providing for an increase of the rates being on file, they have actually been increased without regard to the injunction issued by Judge Speed against their enforcement. In 1903, when Judge Speed enjoined the roads
